

Belmont is a rich, complex pure aniline leather that features a sophisticated two-tone finish and a soft, velvety texture. This stylish combination is the result of a specialized manual treatment in which each hide is gently kneaded to liven up its surface. The hides are then pure aniline-dyed and finished with waxes to emphasize the contrast of the natural grain. In addition to its unique look and feel, Belmont is also produced on corrected top grain hides, lending the quality a true sense of versatility. It is both an eye-catching, character-driven product as well as one of Jamie Stern's most budget-friendly leathers. Suitable for hospitality, corporate and residential projects alike, Belmont is an ideal selection for any space where a gently worn, vintage look is desired.
