

Durango is an undeniably handsome distressed leather specifically designed to evoke the worn, rugged character of the Old West. This timeless full grain quality features a hand-wiped finish to bring out the leather's natural grain and texture while imparting each hide with a unique, two-tone coloration. The hand-finishing process guarantees that no two hides of this singular leather are the same. Durango also boasts a robust semi-aniline finish to ensure that the four traditional colorways look as beautiful and vibrant in five years as they do today.
