

Milano is one of Jamie Stern's signature full grain leathers and features a protective semi-aniline finish. Produced on large European crust, each hide receives a little more pigment during the finishing process to create a truly durable, scratch-resistant upholstery leather which still boasts all the natural benefits of cowhide. This leather will breathe, age and become more elegant with time and use, but its precise coloration and uniform grain will remain vibrant and intact for years even in high-traffic areas.
